1.2 Summary of the Action

Ethiopia has long been considered as a politically and economically stable country within the unstable Horn of Africa region. In the past years, however, conflicts have simultaneously occurred in different regions of the country. While the Pretoria Cessation of Hostilities Agreement (CoHA) signed between the Ethiopian government and the Tigray People's Liberation Front (TPLF) in November 2022 has ended a two-years war and launched a peace and reconstruction process, the situation in Northern Ethiopia still remains volatile. The post conflict transition witnesses significant gaps in political willingness and institutional and human capacity to manage the necessary peace processes and political reforms and changes needed to build a democratic, stable and prosperous country for all Ethiopians irrespective of their ethnicity, religion and gender. This action will support efforts towards peace, stabilisation and recovery from recent conflicts through strengthening more inclusive, strong and resilient local institutions and civil society, effective reforms and processes that lead to sustainable peace, recovery and development. In addition, it will also guarantee sufficient space for women and girls and their organisations to participate and benefit from these processes. Specifically, the action will cover five inter-related components identified here as Specific Objectives: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Promote peace and social cohesion in conflict prone areas through supporting inclusive dialogue, timely mediation efforts and reconciliation processes.

2. Enhance the capacity of key institutions and Civil Society Organisations (CSOs) in the implementation of a comprehensive national Transitional Justice policy with a focus on accountability
3. Strengthen National Election Board of Ethiopia (NEBE) as an independent democratic governance institution, as well as to strengthen civil society participation and oversight of elections
4. Contribute to the Ethiopia Resilient Recovery and Reconstruction Framework (3RF) implementation in the Tigray region through the support to the governance reforms in this region by enhancing the capacities of the Ministry of Finance and the Interim Regional Administration of Tigray.
5. Improve capacities of Ethiopian institutions at all levels to advance Gender Equality and Women Empowerment (GEWE) in line with international and national normative frameworks and commitments

This Action contributes to Priority Area 3: Governance and Peacebuilding of the MIP and more specifically, it contributes to the Democratic Governance and Peacebuilding components' objectives.

1.3 Zone benefitting from the Action

The Action shall be carried out in the Federal Democratic Republic of Ethiopia, included in the list of ODA recipients.

2 RATIONALE

2.1 Context

Ethiopia is the second most populous country and plays a key role in the stabilisation of the Horn of Africa. Since 2018, Ethiopia has undergone significant political shifts. After 27 years of leadership by the TPLF, Prime Minister Abiy Ahmed introduced reforms, freeing political prisoners, fostering peace in Eritrea, and forming the Prosperity Party. However, these changes also exposed ethnic tensions and divisions suppressed under the previous regime, leading to an increasing number of protests, clashes and conflicts. The war in the north with TPLF that started in November 2020 has led the country to a further crisis. Although aCoHA was signed in November 2022, its implementation remains complex and fragile, as the CoHA did not address long standing unresolved issues and satisfied the interests of all those stakeholders engaged in the conflict. Dynamics across the rest of Ethiopia, and particularly in Amhara and Oromia, are also very much concerning. The lack of peace and security and instability in most of the regions of the country along with the high cost of living has created profound challenges for Ethiopia's economy, social fabric and intercommunal relationships, and the safety and protection of its citizens. Human rights violations and abuses such as sexual and gender-based violence (SGBV) continue to happen in Northern Ethiopia even one year after the CoHA agreement.

A National Dialogue Commission was created two years ago to achieve consensus on national fundamental issues among all segments of the society. This relevant initiative aims at combating the increasing polarisation and fragmentation of the Ethiopian society and will require high doses of accountability, inclusivity and transparency to succeed. Another relevant and challenging peace related process taking place in the country is the Disarmament, Demobilisation and Reintegration (DRR) of more than 370,000 ex-combatants, most of them from the Tigray region.

Promoting efforts towards peace, stabilisation and recovery from recent conflicts through strengthening more inclusive, strong and resilient local institutions and civil society, effective reforms and processes that lead to sustainable peace, recovery and development, is the core of this action.

Within the framework of the Pretoria Cessation of Hostilities Agreement (CoHA), the Ethiopian government has embarked on designing a transitional justice mechanism to provide accountability for and address gross human rights violations committed during the armed conflict in the North. The mechanism to be designed will require a genuine political will and it will need to be comprehensive in terms of embracing all elements of a Transitional Justice (TJ) process, namely criminal justice, truth, reparations and guarantees of non-recurrence/institutional reform. It is expected that the mechanism will also address considerable violations and grievances in other parts of the country, particularly in the Amhara region where armed clashes have flared up since August with the ensuing gross human rights violations. Irrespective of the fact that the transitional justice process is being designed in the midst of scepticism premised on the genuineness of the political will and on the institutional capacity on the ground, it is also widely accepted amongst civil society, academics, but also governmental stakeholders that Ethiopia urgently needs a comprehensive transitional justice process.

The European Union will support the Ministry of Finance and the Regional Administration in the implementation of the Ethiopia Resilient Recovery and Reconstruction Planning Framework 2023-28 (3FR) in Tigray. In particular it will reinforce democratic governance reforms and institutions, including the reestablishment of the civil service, an independent judiciary, strengthening multi-party political system, as well as promoting an autonomous civil society and media.

Supporting other institutions, like the NEBE, is indispensable to strengthen and stabilise the emerging democracy in Ethiopia. Only in 2019 Ethiopia reformed its legal framework for elections and thereby granted functional independence to NEBE in line with Ethiopia's commitments under the African Charter of Democracy, Elections and Governance. Continued support to institutions and CSOs are therefore crucial in the journey of Ethiopia to become a consolidated democracy. For the first time, the 2021 general elections offered voters a choice among individual candidates through photos on the ballot. Popular confidence in the NEBE measurably improved when compared to pre-electoral surveys, perhaps also because of the severe security and pandemic-related obstacles that NEBE overcame. The 2021 general elections, however, could not be held in several regions for security reasons, including in Tigray, and hence there is now a backlog of potential mid-cycle electoral events that could be instrumental in restoring peace and security in the run-up to the next general elections in 2026.

Strengthening national gender mechanisms is the most sustainable way to guarantee sufficient space for women and girls and their organisations to participate and benefit from not only post-conflict processes but also every-day life in a more equal manner. Women and girls in Ethiopia continue to be strongly disadvantaged compared to boys and men in the majority of the areas, including literacy, health, livelihoods, and basic human rights. They additionally suffer from various forms of gender-based violence, a low status in their society and lack social support networks. National mechanisms for the advancement of Gender Equality in Ethiopia continue being challenged. Ministry of Women and Social Affairs (MoWSA) has limited budget allocations and many of the Gender Affairs Directorates in the line ministries do not have adequate financial resources nor skilled staff for executing their activities. On the lower levels, the regional, zonal and woreda, the bureaus and offices are in some instances non-existing due to budgetal constraints. There is also limited budget and skilled staff available for the implementation of the policies and various sectoral development plans. Limited capacity of the gender machineries was recognised as a key challenge in the recent National Beijing Platform for Action Country report prepared by MoWSA (back then the Ministry of Women, Children and Youth) in 2019. The current National Women's Policy is from 1993 and as much as it contributed tremendously to establishment of gender machinery in the country, is now obsolete and its update is still not finalised.

Nevertheless, Ethiopia continues to be a major power in the Horn of Africa, with strategic importance for the EU, given the impact of the country on regional stability and development. Strengthening the state's capacity to administer its territory and population in a transparent, democratic and peaceful manner, therefore remains a top priority for the EU.

2.2 Problem Analysis

Lack of peace and social cohesion

The transition process led by the Abiy administration could not contain long-held grievances between ethnicities that have resulted in deaths, destruction, human rights violations and abuses, and significant population displacements, as well as sexual and gender based violence. The increasing number of political and ethnic tensions and conflicts occurred in the past years have endangered the stability of a country that plays a key role in ensuring the peace, security and stability of the Horn of African region. The causes/drivers of conflict in Ethiopia are both multidimensional and complex, but mostly related to historical inter-ethnic and elites disputes, usually over power relations or administrative divisions. Misinformation, disinformation and hate speech also play a significant role in aggravating tensions.

The atrocities committed in the conflict in the northern regions reflect a profound polarisation along ethnic groups in Ethiopia, as well as gender inequalities. This has created a disturbing cycle of extreme violence and retribution, which raises the imminent threat of further and more pronounced atrocity crimes. There is therefore an urgent need of breaking the cycle of violence and gross human rights violations through a new political settlement which re-defines the social contract, gives recognition to victims and survivors, ensures accountability, serves justice and achieve reconciliation. A credible transitional justice process and related mechanism can significantly contribute to initiating post-conflict recovery and in preventing the emergence of new cycles of violence. There is a broad consensus that Ethiopia needs a transitional justice mechanism, however, the challenge lies in designing a victim centered, human rights compliant, gender sensitive and inclusive TJ mechanism. Experience shows the importance of closely working with victims and their communities to design a transitional justice approach that is sensitive to their needs and context to achieve a people-centred justice. This action is aimed at contributing towards the implementation of such a system.

Challenges connected to electoral exercises and democratic institutions

Free, fair and inclusive elections are a cornerstones of democracy and the electoral processes in Ethiopia need support. The support to NEBE is directly tied to the objective of strengthening democratic institutions in the country. Conducting elections will be especially difficult because of the unpredictable security context, while local elections are technically the most challenging because of the exponential number of candidates and districts. Regional branches of NEBE urgently need support, both capacity building and in equipping regional offices. Previous experiences have shown that NEBE would also benefit from better operational planning. Populations of conflict-affected areas, including Internally Displaced Persons (IDPs) and conflict-affected women, have largely been deprived of the right to vote and to stand as candidates in impacted parliamentary and regional State Council constituencies. Furthermore, civil society need capacity building, coordination and support to assume the role of independent watchdogs and observers. So far the civil society engagement in elections is promising but have a long way to go.

Weak regional administration in Tigray region

The two-year war in Tigray has seriously undermined the regional administration further burdening the complicated lives of the resilient citizens. By supporting democratic governance reforms, including the establishment of the civil service, an independent judiciary, strengthening multi-party political system, as well as, reinforcing an autonomous civil society and media, the European Commission (EC) will be contributing also to the sustainable economic development of the region, as well as, respect for human rights and gender equality. In addition, the EC will be contributing to the Ethiopia Resilient Recovery and Reconstruction Planning Framework 2023–28 (3RF) for the region.

Deteriorating situation of women and girls in Ethiopia due to weak gender machineries

Ethiopia faces a series of challenges to achieve the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), including SDG 5 achieve gender equality and empower all women and girls. Women and girls continue to be strongly disadvantaged compared to boys and men in several areas, including literacy, health, livelihoods, and basic human rights. They additionally suffer from various forms of gender-based violence and low status in their society and lack social support networks. Despite of existing gender machineries at all levels of government structures and national normative frameworks, the lack of capacities, limited budgeting hampering the implementation of policies as well as delays in updating gender policies, makes the system unable to fulfil its mandate to significantly improve the situation of women and girls in the Ethiopian society. This action is envisaged to improve capacities of Ethiopian institutions at all levels to advance Gender Equality and Women Empowerment (GEWE) in line with international and national normative frameworks and commitments.

Human Rights

Human rights and the human rights-based approach are at the centre of the action - in line with the EU policies - which focuses on both duty bearers and rights holders and the support offered to different institutions, electoral processes and the justice sector. The human rights-based approach will be applied throughout all phases of the project cycle, guaranteeing the implementation of human rights and the principles of universality, inalienability, indivisibility, interdependence and respect for the principles of equality, non-discrimination, transparency, accountability, etc. The approaches of "do no harm" and "leaving no one behind" will also be applied. Peace and transitional justice are sensitive issues in Ethiopia. A comprehensive national TJ policy, with a focus on inclusiveness, gender-responsiveness, victim and survivor-centred approaches will contribute to ensure the accountability of human rights abuses and violations committed during conflict.

Disability

As per OECD Disability DAC codes identified in section 1.1, this action is labelled as D1. This implies that, the action will ensure that the needs and rights of PwD are addressed, in particular for women and girls, in post-conflict situation. It is expected that the number of PwD had increased as a result of the different conflicts. Specific Objective 1 will ensure that PwD can properly participate in peace-building and reconciliation activities that lead to sustainable and inclusive peace. Specific Objective 3 will support the encoding of select voter registration and polling stations as accessible for persons with disabilities in line with Article 29 of the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities. The present action will also support introduction of accessible candidate registration systems.

Reduction of inequalities

While the reduction of inequalities is not the main objective of this initiative, it will undoubtedly have a positive effect on this field given the support foreseen to improve the justice system as well as Good governance and democracy. In addition the human rights-based approach will be applied throughout all phases of the project cycle, guaranteeing among others the respect for the principles of equality, non-discrimination. The approaches of "do no harm" and "leaving no one behind" will also be taken into account.

Democracy

Dialogue, reconciliation and justice are increasingly recognised as important issues in the transition to democracy and in obtaining sustainable peace. By supporting and strengthening electoral processes, democratic and oversight of institutions, dialogue and local stakeholders, the project will have a positive impact in this area. In addition, the fact that this initiative covers aspects of the justice sector, such as further supporting related institutions and bodies, as well as CSOs, in terms of building their institutional and human resource capacities, and providing technical and operational support will make a decisive contribution to improving the quality of democracy in Ethiopia.

Conflict sensitivity, peace and resilience

The Actions will incorporate a conflict-sensitive approach according to the do-no-harm principle by maximising positive impacts and minimising negative impacts on conflict, through ensuring an excellent understanding of the context and actors, and how the EU interventions interact with them. A conflict analysis will be undertaken by the implementing partners before the implementation of the Action. In addition, conflict sensitivity risks and issues will be assessed consistently and linked to the monitoring and evaluation (M&E) system that keeps track of changes in the conflict context and how these relate to the interventions supported by this Action. A certain degree of flexibility will be needed to adjust activities and processes where they negatively impact on conflict or when they do not adequately respond to the changing context. Finally, key sensitive decisions such as selection of beneficiaries, locations, timing, relations with authorities, staffing profile, interactions with the DDR process, linkages between DDR and TJ, etc. will need to be carefully taken into consideration by the implementing partners.

The triple nexus approach will also be actively promoted by ensuring coordination with humanitarian, development and peace actors, as well as synergies and complementarity with their interventions in the targeted areas and with a sustained focus on the interaction between IDPs and host communities.

Lessons Learnt:

This action will greatly benefit from the different lessons learned of previous and on-going interventions in the area of governance.

Specific Objective 1 will greatly benefit from the different lessons learned of previous and on-going peace-building and conflict prevention projects in Ethiopia. Experiences showed the importance of applying a humanitarian-development-peace nexus approach and ensuring strong coordination and exchange among the different EU services and instruments. Another important lesson learned is the need to better understand and address the causes of conflict and ensure inclusive participation of all groups and parties. In particular, women and girls should not be seen only as victims but also as leaders of peace-building and conflict prevention actions at all levels. Furthermore, lessons and good practices documented from previous and on-going EU interventions (EUTF Cross Border Programme, Civil Society Fund III, etc.) show the need to build capacities and support local CSO, youth and women so they can better respond to the current challenges.

Specific Objective 2 will build on ongoing programs on Criminal Justice Reform, Individual Measures with components on peacebuilding/conflict prevention, psychosocial support, rehabilitation of health care systems and educational system and support to the DDR initiative of the government.

Specific Objective 3 will build on the programme FED/2019/041-916 European Response to Electoral Cycle Support in Ethiopia, which supported an unprecedented (but still unpublished) Lessons Learned exercise by NEBE. Needs identified in the exercise that are targeted in this action include: poll worker trainings, identification of polling station locations, early planning and mapping of the operational support needed from all levels of government for transport, enhanced capacity of NEBE's ICT department to develop and manage large scale and complex election information systems, develop Geographic Information Systems (GIS), develop a database of election officers and poll workers that is continuously updated with performance indicators and contact information, strengthen voter education activities in rural areas and in minority languages, enhancing awareness of gender and inclusion issues, confirming the rights of observers to follow all steps of the electoral process, enhancing the capacity of observer groups to fulfil their mandate and review accreditation procedures to ensure effectiveness of the process, including partial delegation of services at field level. Lessons learned by ECES in 2021 point to the need of stronger and timelier involvement in operational planning to avoid late minute NEBE requests for logistical stopgap support.

Specific objective 4 is in line with the Ethiopia Resilient, Recovery and Reconstruction planning framework 2023-2028 (3RF) in Tigray and therefore will support a governmental initiative. This approach will help reducing uncertainties and potential obstacles during the implementations phase.

Specific Objective 5 is based on the extensive consultations with EUMS and other stakeholders. The choice of specific activities will be based on, i.a., the Donor Mapping exercise executed in 2022 in order to prevent duplication and gaps in the intervention as well as results of the EU funded project 'Determining Ethiopian Women's Status and Priorities: an Action Research Project'. Additionally, Spanish Cooperation is conducting an assessment of capacities of the Ministry of Women and Social Affairs and the Regional Bureaus in late 2023, which is a complimentary activity to this planned action.

Relating to all Specific Objectives of this Action: in response to the aid diversion scandal there will be thorough discussions with implementing partners on safeguarding measures in place to reduce risk of misuse of funds, complemented by regular monitoring and enhanced control, as well as additional risk mitigation measures if and when needed.

3.5 The Intervention Logic

The underlying intervention logic for this action is that:

If inclusive and sustainable peace, stability and social cohesion is strengthened in Ethiopia; if current efforts to design a transitional justice process is supported with increased human and institutional capacity within key criminal justice institutions and CSOs; if NEBE, democratic institutions, political parties and CSOs working on elections have strong capacities and strengthened skills ; if democratic governance reforms in Tigray are ongoing, reestablishment of the civil service and independent judiciary is in place, strong multi-party political system exist and autonomous civil society and media are in place; if Ethiopian institutions on all levels deliver gender equality outcomes in all spheres, policies, laws, strategies and action plans are designed with gender sensitivity and CSOs and Ethiopian women and girls have skills to influence decision-making processes then, all groups of the Ethiopian society will be able to live in peace and harmony; the rights and dignity of women, youth, survivors will be fulfilled, NEBE will be equipped to conduct transparent, accountable, responsible and gender-responsive electoral processes, better enjoyment of human rights by all Ethiopian women and girls will be achieved, because an enabling environment for inclusive governance, democracy, accountability, non-discrimination, economic autonomy, decent work, shock responsive social protection and a violence-free society will have been created through strengthening democratic institutions, transitional justice, gender equality and social cohesion in Ethiopia.

3.6 Logical Framework Matrix

This indicative logframe constitutes the basis for the monitoring, reporting and evaluation of the intervention.

On the basis of this logframe matrix, a more detailed logframe (or several) may be developed at contracting stage. In case baselines and targets are not available for the action, they should be informed for each indicator at signature of the contract(s) linked to this AD, or in the first progress report at the latest. New columns may be added to set intermediary targets (milestones) for the Output and Outcome indicators whenever it is relevant.

- At inception, the first progress report should include the complete logframe (e.g. including baselines/targets).
- Progress reports should provide an updated logframe with current values for each indicator.
- The final report should enclose the logframe with baseline and final values for each indicator.

The indicative logical framework matrix may evolve during the lifetime of the action depending on the different implementation modalities of this action.

The activities, the expected Outputs and related indicators, targets and baselines included in the logframe matrix may be updated during the implementation of the action, no amendment being required to the Financing Decision.

4.7 Organisational Set-up and Responsibilities

A Programme Steering Committee (PSC) will be established for oversight and overall coordination and monitoring of the Action's implementation process. The Steering Committee will meet at least twice a year to discuss strategic issues and provide direction in addressing programme implementation challenges. The composition and mandate of the Steering Committee will be decided by the EC and implementing partners. It will include relevant Government stakeholders at federal and regional level.

Specific Objective 1: Promote peace and social cohesion in conflict prone areas through supporting inclusive dialogue, timely mediation efforts and reconciliation processes.

The set up of a Steering Committee co-chaired by a government institution (MoP) and the European Commission and composed of regional peace and security bureaus, implementing partners, local CSOs and experts might be established. The Steering Committee will assess the overall implementation of the programme and provide strategic direction. It will also approve the annual work plans and budgets, risk analysis and mitigation measures. Meetings will be organised yearly. Technical Committees may also be established in order to quarterly discuss the implementation of technical issues, analyse and monitor programme implementation, and ensure coordination among stakeholders along the humanitarian-peace-development nexus. Other stakeholders could be invited to both groups as observers if considered necessary. The implementing partners will assist both groups and will act as the Secretariat.

Specific Objective 2 : To enhance the capacity of key institutions and CSOs in the implementation of a comprehensive national TJ policy with a focus on the accountability component

While the European Commission will be responsible for the overall management of the Action and its outputs, under this specific objective, it is foreseen to engage an international pillar assessed entity to manage activities under output 2.2 in relation to building the capacity of CSOs and the provision of service to victims. It is also foreseen to engage a technical assistance unit to manage activities under output 2.1. whereby different government institutions will be thematically/technically supported based on the needs that will be identified.

Specific Objective 3: To strengthen NEBE as an independent democratic governance institution, as well as civil society oversight of elections.

A Steering Committee co-chaired by NEBE and the European Commission will be established. The Steering Committee will be the policy decision-making body of the programme. It will assess the overall implementation of the programme and will approve the annual work plans, risk analysis and mitigation measures. Meetings will be organised yearly and when requested by one of the members or the grantee.

Representatives of the main beneficiary entities, including CSOs will be invited to join discussions in the Steering committee for the relevant matters of their responsibility.

A Technical Committee will be established in order to quarterly discuss implementation technical issues, to analyse and monitor programme implementation of the programme, to decide how to manage new challenges and to share information. Programme managers and other technical staff from the institutions belonging to the Steering Committee will take part at the quarterly meetings. Extraordinary meetings will be organised if requested by one of the members or the grantee. Other partners and donors could be invited to both groups as observers and external experts could be invited if considered necessary. The implementing partners will assist both groups and will act as the Secretariat.

Specific Objective 4: Contribute to the 3RF implementation in the Tigray region through the support to the governance reforms in Tigray by enhancing the capacities of the Ministry of Finance and the Interim Regional Administration of Tigray

While European Commission will be responsible for the overall management of the Action, outputs under this specific objective which include support to the federal ministry of finance and regional institutions in Tigray, will be managed by an international pillar Assessed entity overseen by the European Commission. A Technical Committee chaired by the Secretary General of the Ministry of Finance, or his representative, will meet every six months and as often as necessary to ensure progress of the actions. The Committee will also be composed of : representatives of the implementing entity, representatives of regional beneficiary institutions, representatives of the Ministry of Finance, and representatives of the European Commission. In addition, representatives of partner institutions and, if necessary, sector specialists, donors and representatives of civil society may be invited as required, at the proposal of one of the parties.

Specific Objective 5: Improve capacities of Ethiopian institutions at all levels to advance Gender Equality and Women Empowerment (GEWE) in line with international and national normative frameworks and commitments

While European Commission (EC) will be responsible for the overall management of the Action, outputs under this Specific Objectives will be managed by the EC together with an entrusted entity and relevant line ministries. A technical assistance may be recruited for coordination and harmonisation of the different activities. A Steering Committee may be established with meetings every six months co-chaired by the EC, Ministry of Women and Social Affairs, an entrusted entity and other key stakeholders as observers.

As part of its prerogative of budget implementation and to safeguard the financial interests of the Union, the Commission may participate in the above governance structures set up for governing the implementation of the action and may sign or enter into joint declarations or statements, for the purpose of enhancing the visibility of the EU and its contribution to this action and ensuring effective coordination.

5 PERFORMANCE MEASUREMENT

5.1 Monitoring and Reporting

The day-to-day technical and financial monitoring of the implementation of this action will be a continuous process, and part of the implementing partner's responsibilities. To this aim, the implementing partner shall establish a permanent internal, technical and financial monitoring system for the action and elaborate regular progress reports (not less than annual) and final reports. Every report shall provide an accurate account of implementation of the action, difficulties encountered, changes introduced, as well as the degree of achievement of its results (Outputs and direct Outcomes) as measured by corresponding indicators, using as reference the logframe matrix (for project modality) and the partner's strategy, policy or reform action plan list (for budget support).

The Commission may undertake additional project monitoring visits both through its own staff and through independent consultants recruited directly by the Commission for independent monitoring reviews (or recruited by the responsible agent contracted by the Commission for implementing such reviews).

Roles and responsibilities for data collection, analysis and monitoring:

The implementing partner must establish a permanent internal, technical and financial monitoring system for the action and prepare regular progress reports and final reports. Monitoring system and tools should promote and ensure local beneficiaries and stakeholders' quantity and quality participation. The project will use: a) existing accountability mechanisms to obtain feedback that feeds into a constant revision and adaptability of actions and, b) new accountability mechanisms such as stakeholders' committees. As part of the accountability mechanisms, a complaint response mechanism, accessible by vulnerable groups such as women, IDPs and PwD, will be put into place.

In the initial phase, the indicative logical framework agreed in contract and / or the agreement signed with the implementing partner must be complemented with baselines, milestones and targets for each indicator. In addition, a gender analysis and a conflict assessment will be conducted at the beginning of the intervention. Progress reports provided by the implementing partner should contain the most recent version of the logical framework agreed by the parties and showing the current values for each indicator. The final report should complete the logical framework with initial and final values for each indicator.

The final report, financial and descriptive, will cover the entire period of the implementation of the action.

The Commission may undertake additional project monitoring visits both through its own staff and through independent consultants recruited directly by the Commission for independent monitoring reviews (or recruited by the responsible agent contracted by the Commission for implementing such reviews).

5.2 Evaluation

Having regard to the importance and nature of the action, a mid-term and a final evaluation will be carried out for this action via independent consultants contracted by the Commission.

An mid-term evaluation will be carried out for problem solving and learning purposes, in particular with respect to the effectiveness and complementarity of the action with other initiatives; while the final evaluation will be carried out for accountability and learning purposes at various levels (including for policy revision), taking into account in particular the fact that progress on issues tackled under these action are part of a process.

All evaluations shall assess to what extent the action is considering the human rights-based approach as well how it contributes to gender equality and women's empowerment. Expertise on human rights and gender equality will be ensured in the evaluation teams.

The Commission shall inform the implementing partner at least 30 days in advance of the dates envisaged for the evaluation missions. The implementing partner shall collaborate efficiently and effectively with the evaluation experts, and inter alia provide them with all necessary information and documentation, as well as access to the project premises and activities.

The evaluation reports may be shared with the partners and other key stakeholders following the best practice of evaluation dissemination. The implementing partner and the Commission shall analyse the conclusions and recommendations of the evaluations and, where appropriate, apply the necessary adjustments.

Evaluation services may be contracted under a framework contract.

5.3 Audit and Verifications

Without prejudice to the obligations applicable to contracts concluded for the implementation of this action, the Commission may, on the basis of a risk assessment, contract independent audit or verification assignments for one or several contracts or agreements.

6 STRATEGIC COMMUNICATION AND PUBLIC DIPLOMACY

The 2021-2027 programming cycle will adopt a new approach to pooling, programming and deploying strategic communication and public diplomacy resources.

In line with the 2022 “Communicating and Raising EU Visibility: Guidance for External Actions”, it will remain a contractual obligation for all entities implementing EU-funded external actions to inform the relevant audiences of the Union’s support for their work by displaying the EU emblem and a short funding statement as appropriate on all communication materials related to the actions concerned. This obligation will continue to apply equally, regardless of whether the actions concerned are implemented by the Commission, partner countries, service providers, grant beneficiaries or entrusted or delegated entities such as UN agencies, international financial institutions and agencies of EU member states.

However, action documents for specific sector programmes are in principle no longer required to include a provision for communication and visibility actions promoting the programmes concerned. These resources will instead be consolidated in Cooperation Facilities established by support measure action documents, allowing Delegations to plan and execute multiannual strategic communication and public diplomacy actions with sufficient critical mass to be effective on a national scale.

Appendix 1 REPORTING IN OPSYS

A Primary Intervention (project/programme) is a coherent set of activities and results structured in a logical framework aiming at delivering development change or progress. Identifying the level of the primary intervention will allow for:

Articulating Actions or Contracts according to an expected chain of results and therefore allowing them to ensure efficient monitoring and reporting of performance;

Differentiating these Actions or Contracts from those that do not produce direct reportable development results, defined as support entities (i.e. audits, evaluations);

Having a complete and exhaustive mapping of all results-bearing Actions and Contracts.

Primary Interventions are identified during the design of each action by the responsible service (Delegation or Headquarters operational Unit).

The level of the Primary Intervention chosen can be modified (directly in OPSYS) and the modification does not constitute an amendment of the action document.

The intervention level for the present Action identifies as (tick one of the 4 following options);
